ANOTHER TANGLE. Will Baltimore and Washington Be Taken In After All? - President Powers and Certain Delegates Differ, but the Matter

Will Be Settled Next Thursday - Nick Young Will Issue His Schedule To-night. Following in the footsteps of the National League magnates, the delegates to the Eastern League meeting at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. after a secret confab of four long hours, adjourned to meet again next Thursday after first agreeing to preserve an air of mystery when questioned as to what had been done, Possibly one of the reasons why the delegates did not care to talk was because the Eastern League just at present is in quite a fix over the chance to admit Baltimore and Washington to the circuit. While P. T. Powers, the hustling President of the League, wants to make room for the new members who have but recently been dropped by the National League. he is meeting with obstacles that are at present hard to surmount, and for that matter some of the delegates are rather inclined to proceed with the circuit they had last year.

In order to admit Baltimore and Washington.

Manager Ewing said yesterday that he knew nothing of the report that Outlielder Selbach has signed a New York club contract. He stated also that Frisble of Boston has not yet been secured, but that Hickman is in line all right. So far Freedman has secured Bowerman, Hickman and Mercer, all for nothing, beloach and Frisble, together with Tom O'Brien are wanted on the same terms. The barrel" is still full.

AUGUSTA, March 24.—Manager Ned Hanlon of the Brooklyn team is suffering a slight stroke of hard luck just now. For the first time in several years he has cause to complain of unpropitious weather at spring training time. Hanlon had his minions out on the field this sternoon, but the were unable to do much work. It rained so hard yesterday and last night that the field was well flooded this morning. The storm let up at sunrise, but the sun kept under cover all day, Hanlon was out at the grounds before breakfast with half dozen negroes and everything was donetolget the field in shape. Had the sun shone as warmly as it did on Wednesday and Thursday, the undertaking might have been more successful, but as it remained dame and cloudy day, the undertaking might have been more successful, but as it remained damp and cloudy all day the sward dried up very slowly. Morning practice had to be abandoned and that done in the afternoon was seriously handisapped by the softness of the field. Outfleider Holmes arrived this morning and Hanlon now has sixteen players here.

borers have been hard at work to-day break-ing up the ice on the diamond so that when the New Yorks report here next Wednesday. they may enjoy summer practice in balmy air and Harlem-River fog. Ewing still has the

The Tigers, however, put up a hard, clean game from start to finish. Hillebrand pitched the first flye innings for Princeton, and although the Rungers hine was able to pound out six singles he managed to teep them well scattered. By his three-base hit in the sixth inning with the bases full. Steinwender, the Tiger's little second baseman, has gained a warm spot in the hearts of the enthusiasts here, which promises to last the season through. The visitors were clearly outclassed at every point. The score:

TRAP SHOOTING.

A Lively Day's Sport at the Grounds of the Carteret Gun Club.

Four cups were shot for at the Carteret Gun Club traps at Garden City yesterday, and one of the best day's sport of the season was had. The chief event of the day was a fifteen-bird handicap for a handsome piece of plate donated by J. Gerow Dutcher, Twenty shooters took part in this event and the stakes amounted to $300. The shoot proved to be a very interesting one and at the end of the last round H. G. Scott, T. D. Hooper and F. Hall were tied with thirteen kills each. On the shoot off Scott killed two birds and won.

The weather was like spring and the pleasantichange made every one feel good. The sun shone brightly, making the light rather brilliant for the shooters. The birds were a fast lot and they were aided in their flight by a northerly wind, which made the majority of them drivers or quartering drivers. The boundary was thirty yards. This is the shortest boundary used at any shooting club. The Dutcher Cup was begun with Horatio Nelson at the traps. He missed his first bird, a driver. In this round seven misses were d. I. Du., ght scores. D., with a contract of the contract of scored. At the end of the fifth round T. D. Hooper, F. Hall and L. I. Duryea were the only ones with straight scores. D. I. Bradley had

The final bouts of the seventh annual wrestling championships of the New York A. . furnished rare sport last night in the club gymnasium. The new men performed well. A. J. Grosz, who has only been under the tuition of Instructor Leonard for a few months, was remarkably clever in the final bout of the 135pound class. He is four pounds under the etipulated weight, but made last year's champion, Harry Lyons, who is known as the "Iron man," look like a putty imitation when he secured a bar-and-neck-hold and won in 6 minutes 50 seconds.

The wrestling was so scientific and clean The wrestling was so scientific and clean that prior to the last bout Waldo Sprague paid a well-deserved tribute to Hugh Leonard for developing a class of men that exhibited such gentlemanly traits in the ordinarily rough sport. Then came the heavyweight bout between W. D. Hennen and R. L. Scott. The men were scarcely in action before Hennen got a strangle hold that he was promptly ordered to break. He had the upper position, but could make no impression on Scott, whose strength kept him in comparative safety. Hennen had to break a full Nelson and then raised Scott with a leg hold, but the latter cleverly spun out of dauger. This irritated the aggressive Hennen, and he bored Scott's face into the mat, a proceeding that met the disamproval of the spectators. The trick was reneated a minute later, but Hennen abandoned these tucties in the face of even more marked disapproval by those around the ring. Haif time expired without Scott showing any signs of weakening. He held tenaciously to the mat for several minutes more. Then Hennen lifted him, and though Scott tried to spin out of the dangerous hold, he was too weak to avoid the fall. It was a close call, but Referee Weinach's decision was thought fair. The loser was scarcely satisfied and will probably challenge Hennen for the Howard medal, which the latter holds. The summary:

135-Pound—Final bout, A. J. Grosz threw H. S. Lyons with a bar and neck hold. Time, a minutes to seconds. Bout for second place, H. S. Lyons threw J. W. Baiet with a side chancer and arm hold. Time, 2 minutes 41 seconds. J. C. A. Genter received second prize by default of Tansley and Hasbrouck.

158 Pounds—Final bout, F. Olsen threw E. S. Rowell with half Nelson and crotch hold. Time, 3 minutes 41 seconds. J. C. A. Genter received second prize by default of Tansley and Hasbrouck.

PITZ AND M'COY SIGN ARTICLES. "Lanky Bob" and Considine Want to Punch

Each Other, but Are Stopped. A brawl which threatened destruction to a ot of new furniture and glass took place yesterday afternoon at the Mirror Café between Bob Fitzsimmons and George Considine. matchmaker of the Broadway A. C. and manager of Jim Corbett. The affair was the culmination of a long-standing enmity, which has existed between the two, and the crucial point was reached when Fitz met Kid McCoy to

Originally the hour for the meeting of the pugilists was set for noon, but Fitzsimmons at the last moment sent word that he could not be present until 2 o'clock. This was satisfactory to McCoy. Long before this time there were many sports on hand, including Martin Julian, George Considine, Johnny White, the referee: Jeff Thorne, the English pugilist, who is now "Lanky Bob's" sparring partner; Vernie Barton and Bob Turner. When Fitz arrived he said:

"Haven't you got a better spot where we can do business without being annoyed? Really, I can't move about, and it is rather distressing." Homer Selby, McCoy's brother, who stood beside the latter and who seemed to be spokesman for the young Hoos'er boxer, suggested that they adjourn to a private room in the rear. This was complied with. When negotiations opened the question about clubs was naturally brought up. McCoy, as predicted in THE SUN. was not partial to the Westchester A. C., and told Fitzsimmons so. The latter was just as positive that the club was all that could be depositive that the club was all that could be desired, and for awhile the pair indulged in a heated argument regarding the merits and demerits of certain boxing clubs.

"It's strange that you don't want to fight at the Westchester club now," said Fitz raising his voice. "You were willing the other day. Why have you changed your mind?"

"Because," answered the Kid, "I think that the Westchester club is an uncertain venture while the Seaside and Broadway clubs are well-known to the public. I don't want to take a chance."

But" interposed Julian, "the Westchester elub is willing to post a certified check of $5,000 that everything will be all right. That club is willing to post a certified check of $5,000 that everything will be all right. That looks like business, doesn't it?

McCoy ha! evidently made up his mind before hand and was not to be swerved. At this juncture Codsidine spoke up. He said:

"I am here in the interest of the Broadway Club and want to bid for the encounter. We can surely play to big money there and if you are wise you will accept."

Fitzsimmons was taken by surprise at these remarks. When he recovered his composure he said:

"It's no use. I wont fight at the Broadway Club. I don't care to appear in a place where I have been barred!"

"You were never barred," returned Considine, growing red in the face. "I never said you couldn't fight there. Why even Thursday night, through all Herford, I sent you a ticket to see the Gans-Erne mill."

"I don't care about that," answered the Cornishman, his voice getting louder each moment. "I wont light at the Broadway A. C. That's all there is to it."

Thereupon Considine declared that he did not care whether he consented to box there or not. Both men were angry to the quick by this time and glared at each other savagely. Finally, Fitz could not stand it any longer, and fairly sputtered:

"You're a — Har!"

Not to be outdone. Considine retailated in a say I am not afraid of Considine or any one else."

Considine's side of the story is as follows:

"I wish they would not have got between us when I had a chance to nail him. He is a big cur, anyway, and would have quit at the first punch. He's afraid to fight any one and is only bluffling. Would you believe it, after the brawl he went over to his hotel and came back with a gun in his inside pocket. Doesn't that show he has a streak of 'yellow'? He displayed the gun to the cashier of the hotel and said that if I bothered him he woul use it on me. Nice thing for a prizelighter to say. Why, I'd have put him on the bum if he had ever touched me."

Doesn't that shaw he has a streak of yellow? He displayed the gunt to the cashier of the hotel and said that if bothered him he woul use it on me. Mice thing for a prizelighter to say. Racing at New Orleans.

New Orleans, March 24.—The racing in New Orleans, March 24.—The racing in New Orleans for the season wound up yesterday with the track a sea of mud and a hard rain falling almost continuously. The Turf Congress Handleap, $2,000 added at one mile, was the feature. Trillo and Sidney Lucas were barred in the betting at the request of their owners, the former having bad less and the latter not liking a muddy track. With these two, out Compensation, was made the favorite at 2 to 1, knight Banneret and Ed Gartland at fours and flyes, respectively were the heaviest played of the lot. Trillo, deep te his legs made a runaway race of it, winning without an effort. Knight Banneret was second and Eva Ruesthird. The Accordance was phenomenally large considering the weather and the betting heavier than any day of the meeting. Summaries:

CANADIANS WIN AT HOCKEY.

All New York Team Easily Defeated in a

Skilful Game The Ottawa hockey players defeated the All New York team at the St. Nicholas Skating Rink last night by 5 goals to 2, and the Canadians, who had come down to see the game, cheered themselves hoarse. It seems strange that the Ottawa team should be beaten by the New York Athletic Club on Friday and then beat a team supposed to be made up of the best players from all the clubs in this city. Four of the All New York team were members of the New York Athletic Club team, and the three other players certainly weakened instead of strengthened the team. Hayward of the St. Nicholas team was at goal instead of O'Donnell and Russell and Phillips of the Hockey Club played instead of Cobb and Belden.
